

Dramatechers and WNTC Present "The Devil and Daniel Webster"

Members of the Clarkson's drama society, the Dramatechers, presented Stephen Vincent Benet's "The Devil and Daniel Webster" over campus radio station WNTC on Wednesday, December 3.

John A. Dickey, instructor in business administration and faculty advisor for the Dramatechers, supervised the recording. Bruce Daily was director and also served as narrator. Other participants were Miss Ann Eichhorn of SUTCP; Jerry Cohen, Daniel Webster; Dick Levy, Jabez Stone; Jack Dorothy, Devil; Bernard Conklin, voice of Miser Stone; LeRoy Lord, Hawthorne; and Ray Stocker, Butler.

Ken Terhune was producer; Pete Olin was the announcer. Fred Trinkle was control engineer and Dave Mourer was sound effects man.

First Radio Endeavor Since '51

This radio presentation by the Dramatechers was their first endeavor since their play "Little Foxes" in 1951. The radio show was prepared as advanced publicity for the play "Male Animal," based on James Thurber's original, to be presented in the Spring.
